Mentoring

At JAIN (Deemed-to-be University), the implementation of mentoring within the Outcome-Based Education (OBE) framework is designed to align with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020's transformative and holistic approach to education. By focusing on developing students' competencies and essential skills for both personal and professional success, our mentoring program ensures education is student-centric, skill-oriented, and in alignment with global standards.

The primary objective of our mentorship program is to accelerate the personal and professional development of mentees. This is achieved through a structured process involving psychometric profiling and personalized counseling, ultimately enhancing their employability skills. Our goal is to support students in achieving their immediate learning outcomes while preparing them for lifelong learning and professional success. Additionally, this approach contributes to the students' holistic development, ensuring they are well-rounded individuals ready to meet the demands of their chosen careers.

Trans Disciplinary Project-Centric Learning (TD-PCL)

Trans Disciplinary Project-Centric Learning is an educational approach that emphasizes hands-on, experiential learning through real-world projects. TD-PCL provides the practical experiences to the students at the center of the curriculum and has a stronger vocational (skill-oriented) or industry-specific Focus. TD-PCL encompasses an innovative educational approach that uses meaningful projects set in authentic contexts to achieve superior learning outcomes for the student in a programme. The skill development focus of TD-PCL is addressed by the weightage assigned to Sree-Kutumbh- The Marketplace Experience Lab (MPE).

The collaborative educational experiences of learners prepare them better for professional careers by strengthening their abilities, such as creativity, critical thinking, problem solving, teamwork, playing, and effective communication, as essential skills sought after by recruiters and industry. This methodology bridges the gap between theoretical knowledge and practical application, preparing students for the demands of the professional world.

NOTE TO PARENTS

1. Your first concern as a parent should be to see that your ward attends the classes regularly. Parents who permit their ward to be absent from classes unnecessarily handicap their ward's opportunity to succeed in studies.
2. You can contribute a great deal to your ward's success in college by encouraging home study. See that your ward devotes at least two hours every day to his/ her studies at home.
3. You are expected to co-operate in the work of the college by enforcing regularity and discipline as well as by evincing interest in your child's progress. You must also extend your fullest encouragement to your son/daughter so as to enable them to participate in co-curricular and extracurricular activities.
4. You are requested to go through the Attendance and Performance Report to ensure your ward's progress in studies & attendance on a regular basis.
5. When you are requested to meet the Head or the class teacher, it should be done immediately so that the feedback on the ward's slow progress in the class can be directly communicated.
6. Any legitimate complaint can be made at the earliest to the Head of the Department.
7. Withdrawal of your ward from class for mere social functions is not recommended because it retards his/her progress in college and minimizes his/her respect for regular hard work & attendance.
8. Encourage your ward to cultivate habits of neatness, self-help, and systematic work.
9. Ensure that your ward does not bring any costly gadgets to college. The college will not be responsible for the loss.
